LETTER OF RECOMMENDATION

To Whom It May Concern:

My name is Doug Stanley. It is my honor and pleasure to provide my highest recommendation for Charlene Taylor.

As a 30-year veteran producer of primetime television, I began working with Charlene approximately five years ago. She became my direct understudy and producing partner as we produced and delivered a wide range of video content—from social media and business content to premium programming developed for streaming and broadcast platforms.

Throughout this period, Charlene wore many hats. Her primary responsibility was as a producer, and she was a key asset across our productions. My work involves creating, marketing, selling, producing, and delivering content to networks and streamers, and Charlene was actively engaged in each of these processes. She contributed significantly to the development of series such as “North Point” and “On Board,” guided teams through post-production, and participated directly in pitch meetings and content markets with network and streaming executives.

Her technical expertise begins with the camera. A lifelong professional portrait photographer and experienced videographer, Charlene can build complex sets and design lighting to achieve a specific visual look. She has also served as a camera operator and cinematographer on numerous productions.

Charlene has exceptional media-management capabilities and the organizational skills to manage large-scale media projects. One recent feature-length documentary involved 32 TB of footage captured across the United States, Jamaica, Scotland, and Peru. Over a five-month process, she contributed at every stage, from pre-production through color grading.

With years of hands-on production experience, Charlene has also developed into a highly capable editor. Her focus on story is where she has truly excelled.

I am pleased to give Charlene my highest recommendation for her skills, character, and professional abilities. Please feel free to contact me for further information.

Sincerely,

Doug Stanley
